Momentum AI — front-to-end marketing and business plan

Prepared 2026-09-07 for the Friday 2026-09-11 1v1. Internal. Proposed. Extends the September 4 plan and September 5 launch kit. Does not silently change their numbers.

The business in one page

Momentum Digital already has the brand, the book of business, and the four AI menu labels. The division's job is to turn those labels into four sellable machines, one free opener, and a sales path Jesse can run without Dillon sitting in every first call.

Charter, proposed. Momentum AI sits under Momentum Digital. Four lanes Mac put on the site. One flagship and one agent per lane. One free Snapshot. Dillon owns solution design, delivery, and quality. Mac owns strategy, price, and commercial yes. Jesse owns agreed prospecting and close follow-through. Codex remains the orchestrator. Nothing ships as Dillon's hours wearing an AI badge.

Why now. Mac said so, twice, on September 4. Inc 5000 press already named an AI division on August 21. ChatGPT Ads is self-serve in the US. AEO retainers in the SMB band sit about $1,500–$3,000 to enter and $3,000–$8,000 for active work; WebFX is the Pennsylvania shop publishing $3,000/month. No Philadelphia SMB agency has a named AI division on the market in the scan we ran. That is context, not a promise of demand.

The finding that changes the go-to-market. 241 cold emails, zero verified human replies. Two hand-built audits, two quotes. The funnel is Snapshot ☐ discovery ☐ one flagship. Not list-blast ☐ voicemail ☐ hope.

Offers (unchanged from the Sep 5 kit)

Lane	Flagship	Proposed	Agent	Roadmap
AEO / GEO	AI Search Readiness sprint, 90 days	$1,500 + $750/mo	Snapshot rerun monthly on 20 frozen questions	Visibility monitoring $500/mo
AI Design	Spec build, five working days	$3,500 fixed	Radar / deck / film engines + QA	Closed-loop site optimization $1,000/mo
AI Marketing	Motion content system	$1,500 + $1,250/mo + credits at cost	Higgsfield plates, local logo composite	ChatGPT Ads $500/mo
AI Automation	Lead Operations agent	$3,500 + $1,500/mo	Intake, dedupe, exception queue, readback	Attribution Spine $3,500 + $1,000/mo

Free opener: AI Search Snapshot. Three to five branded pages from one URL. Fifteen minutes once the generator is real. Routes toward needmomentum.com/free-website-seo-audit/.

Honesty that stays on every sheet: no guaranteed citations, rankings, leads, or revenue. Hours per client is printed on the scorecard. Double hours on the three recurring flagships takes contribution to -$75 under the stated assumptions. That is the whole argument for agents.

Go-to-market

Own site (Mac's August 5 goals). Ship the four lane pages, the ChatGPT Ads page, and the three homepage sections after D11 and D19. Claude Design builds the drafts. Live WordPress is a separate approval.

Inbound. Snapshot as the public magnet. AEO ebook chapter 1 as the gated leave-behind. Press already exists; do not write a second release until there is a paid pilot with permission.

Outbound. Paused in the cold form. Restart only as: relationship owner approves ☐ Snapshot on that domain ☐ Jesse books 20 minutes ☐ Dillon diagnoses one workflow. Reporting before any send: sends, replies, quotes, signed, collected. Five separate counts. D10.

Sales roles. Jesse runs the calendar and the proposal. Dillon runs the demo (Snapshot live on needmomentum.com, then the buyer's own Snapshot if permitted). Mac prices and exceptions. The August 4 40/40/20 split is on the table, not in the contract.

Founding cohort. Three relationship-approved accounts, nominated by Mac the week of September 14. Not Dillon's 26-client portfolio. Not the Erie list. Qualify on the five axes. One new setup per week. Never two active builds plus a third start.

Collateral system (what Claude Design makes)

See COLLATERAL.md. The conversion system is interactive ebooks, not another deck.

- Book 01 How AI changed marketing — public magnet
- Book 02 Get found by AI — Snapshot companion
- Books 03–05 for spec build, motion, lead-ops
- Readiness diagnostic, slow-follow-up calculator, DIY vs division
- 20-minute lunch-and-learn and "what to ask any agency about AI"
- Snapshot Studio as the offer that opens the conversation
- Command Center for Friday only
- Print one-pagers and deck addendum already in the Sep 5 kit
- Jesse sell sheet after D11

Videos

Higgsfield already holds a large recent library (50+ clips on the account as of 2026-09-07). The Sep 5 kit specified five division films and eight stills at about 365 credits, hard stop 450. Do not generate more before Friday unless a plate is missing for F01–F05. Use what exists. Composite the verified lockup locally. Details in VIDEO-PLAN.md.

First 30 / 60 / 90

By Friday. Charter talk. Protected hours. Compensation shape. Name and lockup. Outbound rule. Up to five names for Snapshots.

Day 30. One accepted paid pilot or two access-ready signed pilots. Hours logged. Snapshot production under 15 minutes. Zero critical routing or crawler-block defects on the live pilot. Gross-margin planning target 60%; if actual drops under 50%, reprice or cut scope before adding volume.

Day 60. Second offer only after two clean delivery cycles. Part-time QA when four-week demand exceeds 70% of protected capacity.

Day 90. Keep the profitable repeated workflow. Kill or pause the rest. A software product is not the 90-day goal.

What else we still need

1. Mac's written yes on D01–D03, D09–D11, D19.
2. Three named accounts with relationship owners.
3. Snapshot generator running in under 15 minutes on a residential vantage so crawler state is real.
4. One human-run 20-question baseline on needmomentum.com for the live demo.
5. Logo-composited versions of the five planned films, or a subset, for the Friday open.
6. Jesse in a separate 20-minute working session on the sell sheet and the split.
7. Support owner name before any signature.
8. IP / exit / cancellation language (D13, D14) before a proposal leaves the building.
9. Higgsfield credit pass-through rule (D20) before a Motion quote.
10. Own-site page drafts in Claude Design, then a separate publish decision.

Meeting script (11:00–11:30)

1. Open the Command Center. One line. Four lanes.
2. Show the 241 / 0 finding next to the two audit quotes. Ask for D10.
3. Run Snapshot on needmomentum.com.

4. Walk one lane Mac cares about that day. Do not walk all four unless he asks.
 5. Open the Decision Board. Leave with D01, D02, D03, D09, D19 marked.
 6. Close on the three names and the week-of-September-14 Snapshot list.

Do not ask him to read a 20-page plan in the room. The plan is this file. The meeting object is the studio.
