What we completed in August

AUGUST
RECAP

- Built and released Halloween landing pages for Atlanta, Cleveland, Cincinnati, Columbia, Greenville, Portland, St. Pete, Macon, Roswell, and Sarasota.
- Added city-specific event detail, technical search elements, local copy, internal links, structured event information, and secure ticket paths.
- Updated the Event Tracking Sheet with all ten live URLs, focus terms, metadata, source events, and implementation notes.
- Prepared the seasonal teaser sequence and completed the current launch-readiness scorecard.

Primary goal

SEPTEMBER PLAN

Complete indexing and order reconciliation, then activate the seasonal promotion plan against verified ticket-path results.

Next planning period

September 2026EXECUTIVE
ANALYSIS

The August work created a complete ten-city seasonal acquisition surface rather than a planning-only packet. The pages now provide indexable local destinations and a consistent path into Eventbrite checkout.

Checkout initiation tracking is live. Completed-order reconciliation and manual indexing remain the two permission-dependent steps before ticket revenue or return claims are used.

Channel performance

August activity and results by channel.

August results and work completed

Platform activity is separated from qualified business outcomes.

Lead accounting: Platform activity is reported separately from qualified inquiries, appointments, estimates, bookings, and revenue. Conversion reporting remains pending validation wherever the exact action definition, attribution window, or downstream outcome is not fully reconciled.

Media results

No paid-media spend is claimed. The verified August result is ten live, indexable seasonal pages with checkout-initiation tracking.

Business results

Completed ticket orders and revenue are not yet reconciled to page and checkout activity.

August reporting focus

Join completed orders to city and page, request indexing, and review ticket-path performance before promotion decisions.
