

Momentum AI — one-page positioning brief

Dillon Mohr · Momentum Digital

PRIVATE REVIEW EDITION · SEPTEMBER 2026

Complete source draft, formatted for your review. Publication status and open decisions are preserved inside.

Before this goes public

This is an internal review copy. Offers, pricing, first-person claims, client examples and delivery promises require their existing approvals before public use. This PDF export does not change the source approval status.

Source: POSITIONING.md

Typography: Archivo Black display, Georgia reading text and Calibri utility text. Georgia is a print-specific reading choice; the existing Momentum web design system is unchanged.

Inside

01 / Positioning statement

02 / Target ICP

03 / Five-value map

04 / Three elevator pitches

05 / Proof we can say Friday

06 / What we do not say

Momentum AI — one-page positioning brief

Brand: Momentum Digital, Philadelphia. Division lockup: existing Momentum mark plus the word AI. Core offer: four named lanes that already sit on needmomentum.com — AEO/GEO, AI Design, AI Marketing, AI Automation — each with one launch flagship and one agent that does the recurring work. Ideal client: established local service businesses already tied to Momentum, with a named buyer, a working site, an existing lead source, and one repeatable operational problem. Problem solved: they are invisible to AI search, slow to respond, and stuck operating the agency by hand. Tone: warm, direct, measured. Momentum already did the work. Now it packages the machine. Focus: Philadelphia-region small and midsize service businesses. Not healthcare or legal case records in the founding cohort.

Internal. Prices and claims below are proposed. Nothing here is a contract or an outbound authorization.

Positioning statement

Momentum built the machine. Now we build yours.

For established local service businesses that already have demand but lose it to unread sites, slow follow-up, and disconnected tools, Momentum AI is the in-house division that makes the business easier to discover, faster to respond, and simpler to operate — with evidence of what changed. Model access is an input. The fee is for selecting a valuable process, connecting the right systems, verifying the result, and keeping it running.

Target ICP

Primary. Local service owners in the Philadelphia region who already know Momentum, have a live website, a working lead source, and a CRM or booking process, and can name one repeated costly handoff. A relationship owner must approve the conversation. An employee must own adoption and exceptions.

Secondary. Existing Momentum accounts that already bought an adjacent lane (AEO add-on, ChatGPT Ads management, a reporting build) and can expand into a second flagship without a new relationship.

Not first. Cold Erie and Pittsburgh lists. Healthcare or legal case records. Buyers who want a guaranteed AI ranking. Accounts with no operator and no system access.

Why this ICP. Two hand-built AI search audits sent August 23 both reached quote. Two hundred forty-one cold emails sent September 2–3 produced zero verified human replies. The opener that works is a branded audit on a known relationship, not a cold send.

Five-value map

1. Get found by the systems that now write the answer. AI crawlers can read the site, the business is typed as what it is, and twenty buyer questions are measured on two named engines. No ranking promise.

-
2. See the thing in five working days. A working prototype — site, dashboard, or film — from the client's verified logo and first-party facts. A prototype is a prototype.
 3. Content that moves, with the logo never model-drawn. A monthly film and stills set in the client's identity, rights ledger attached, credits at cost.
 4. Every accepted lead has a receipt. One intake to one destination, dedupe, exception queue, reply draft, destination readback, thirty named acceptance cases.
 5. Hours per client is an acceptance metric. Every offer ships with its agent. An AI division whose product is Dillon's hours is not an AI division.

Three elevator pitches

Short. We make a service business easier to find, faster to answer, and simpler to run. Then we show you what changed.

Medium. Momentum has served over a thousand Philadelphia-region businesses since 2015. The AI division does not sell a chatbot. It sells four finished machines already on the site: get found by AI, prototype in a week, content that moves, and an attribution spine. You pick one problem. We implement it, test it, and leave an operator who can run it.

Long. Most agencies will sell you a tool subscription and a slide. Momentum AI sells a verified process. Mac already put the four lanes on needmomentum.com: AEO/GEO, AI Design, AI Marketing, and AI Automation. Dillon's job is to put one flagship and one agent behind each lane, start with a free branded Snapshot on a relationship-approved account, and refuse any promise we cannot measure. The first cohort is three paid pilots. Setup fees fund setup. Recurring fees fund the agent plus a capped human review. If hours per client blow the budget, the offer failed, not the client.

Proof we can say Friday

- Fagan Painting: AEO/GEO add-on proposed at $500/month for 90 days. Site was not extractable by AI crawlers; Search Console typed a painting company as a Product.
- Two August 23 audits (GT Clinic, Tuxedo Den) reached quote. Neither is signed.
- Deborah Mara: one signed $500/month ChatGPT Ads management lane inside a broader package. Evidence of a sale, not division MRR.
- Puttery NYC: recovered technology and reporting build in the $2,500–$3,500 range, with a passing attribution pattern.
- 26-slide sales deck rebuilt in about two hours from the brand file.
- Higgsfield library is live and large. Planned division films are specified. Logo never touches a model.

What we do not say

No guaranteed citations, rankings, leads, or revenue. No site-count claim. No founder likeness in generated film. No invented testimonials. No 40/40/20 split presented as agreed — Mac proposed it August 4; Friday still has to write it down.